The insurgent troops were chargng on to the ramparts of the besieged cities under cover of a naval bombardment directed at nearby Fort Guadalupe which was resumed by the rebel warship Espana after an earlier shelling of the cities had caused little damage and no reported casualties.

The Espana was joined in the bombardment by the rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera and the destroyer Almirante Cervera and the destroyer Velasco. STORES

THE RAILROADS AS PURCHASERS

Probably no other important industry has a better record than the railroads for promptly putting earnings back into circulation. Wages, taxes and purchases are three major items of expense which keep the railroad dollar moving.

Better earnings in 1936 have brought the railroads back into the market as large purchasers. For the first six months, railfoad purchases totaled four hundred and fifty million dollars, more than for the same period of any other year since 1930. Practically every article in general use is included, so varied are the needs of the railroads. Purchases from manufacturers made up the greatest part of the total, amounting to 322 million dollars, or 60 per cent. more than for the first six months of 1935.

Despite its receivership, the Central of Georgia Railway during the first half of 1936 spent two million dollars for materials and supplies. More than one and onequarter million dollars of this total covered purchases in the railroad's own immediate territory, it being the management's policy to patronizé home industries wherever

While the Central of Georgia's purchases for the first half of 1936 were substantially greater than in recent years, purchases for the second half of the year will be even larger. In addition to materials and supplies regularly needed, orders have been placed for new equipment to replace old or obsolete rolling stock, and included in this are 200 new steel coal cars to cost four hundred and fifty thousand dollars. These will be manufactured in the Central of Georgia's own territory, and will give employment to southern workmen.

Greater railroad puchases have been an important factor in speeding the general business recovery, and as railroad earnings increase there will be proportionate increases in railroad spending—to the benefit of every branch of industry and commerce.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

REITERATED BY RIVERS

Speaker E. D. Rivers reiterated last night that he will not engage in any controversy with his anti-Talmadge opponents for the governorship of Georgia, reaffirming a statement made at the outset of his campaign when he declared he will discuss only the things he considers the main issues of the campaign.

"I have been made the object of attacks by two of my esteemed opponents, and my friends have been attacked as well," the speaker said in a radio broadcast to a meeting of his followers on the roof of the Ansley hotel, a meeteing which also was

In an editorial in the Georgia Justice News A. J. Hartley, chairman of the association, said: "The logical thing for every justice and constable to do in view of Rivers' long lead, as evidenced by the result of our canvass of every county and militia district, is to forget our individual personal likes and dislikes and unite on Rivers for governer and work for his election in September."

Just once he was caught for one of the offenses, served six months in jail and was recently restored to freedom. He felt relieved. He had served out his time for the second theft and he felt sure that no one knew anything about his first offense. No one had asked him about it and he refrained from mentioning it. His prison term ended, he promised himself he would never steal again and started out to lead a clean life.

Yesterday, however, he learned just how relentless the United States secret service can be. He was arrested again, this time for the first offense, committed six months before the one for which he has just finished serving time. United States Commissioner Ed S. Griffith ordered him held yesterday under $500 bond for federal grand jury action.

Johnson, according to his confession to United States Secret Service has been dead to Minnie Bradley at the house he and his family occupied at 497 Capitol avenue. Johnson had his wife sign the name, "Minnie Bradley," as an indorsement on the back and he took it out and cashed it.

Nothing happened.

In November he happened across another such check addressed to Lavonia Williams and, feeling safe, he went through the same process. Three weeks later he was serving six months for 'stealing Lavonia Williams' check. It he had mentioned the first check at the time he was sentenced for the first, he would doubtlessly have first, he would doubtlessly have first, he would doubtlessly have first, he would found the first check at the time he was sentenced for the first, he would doubtlessly have first, he would sout to lead a clean life.

Now he has to go through the processes of trial all over again.

Relative Importance of Facts And Insinuations in Accurate Reporting Discussed by McGill

By Ralph McGill.

Being one of the working reporters in the newspaper trade, it was a some sorrow I read the remarks of Mr. W. T. Anderson, coming hot rom the linotype machine, in which he challenged the accuracy of news reports turned in by those covering events in the present campaign. All of which causes me to rise and say:

As a reporter whose assignments take him here and there about the state, I often have borrowed the use of a typewriter at Mr. Bill Anderson's newspaper shop, The Telegraph, in Macon.

I recall Mr. Anderson as an amiable gentleman. Which makes me the surer Mr. Anderson busted at least one red gallus last week when he heaved up that editorial entitled, "Crooked Newspaper Work," and carried it to the compositors. There was a load which required a lot of balancing to carry.

It included a lot of words such as "rascality," fraud" and "untruth," They are lovely words and are standing up fine. They have been employed for centuries by those who found the shoe fitted and put it on

As one of the reporters assigned to cover a few of the happenings they

THOSE TROOPS AT MONROE.

It was stated that the citizens of Monroe had affirmed there were no troops at the recent speaking of the Governor at Monroe other than those engaged in social and civic activities.

This appeared on the same day as did an affidavit from the chief of police at Monroe who said a prominent Talmadge official had told him the soldiers were coming and would spend the night and that members of the Monroe unit told him they were there.

In a formal statement Chief T. E. Dorsey says:

"The troops were here August 4 and August 5, as has been previously stated. On the afternoon of August 4 I was approached by a prominent Talmadge supporter and informed that in view of reports that Talmadge would be egged, a group of soldiers had come in from Atlanta to spend the night and that 125 more would arrive Wednesday morning."

Nevertheless, it is interesting to go along on the supposition they were there for social purposes, to attend any dances which might be given, to call on the girls, to participate in candy pullings and the like. This explains, no doubt, why pistols and blackjacks were carried along. They are aids to the social graces.

It was known in Monroe that 125 members of the 122d Infantry, of the Atlanta unit, were in Monroe that day, It must be assumed, since they were not ordered there, they did it

There must have been at least 125 surprised faces when they each met, impelled by some unknown urge, to catch the same train for the same destination, all armed, and in civilian clothes, to engage in social activities in Monroe. The society of Monroe is charming but the society pages of no newspaper carried any item of social news or gaiety in which 125 visiting soldiers participated. It would be interesting to know if they checked their blackjacks and pistols at the door. They often interfere with dancing. The affidavit from Monroe said the soldiers expected to be paid. This is most unusual, asking pay for paying social visits.

CAMERAS

DON'T LIE. The editorial also was employed to insinuate there had been rascality in the accounts of the Swainsboro speaking of the Governor. It said the citizens had sworn the speaking stand was paid for by public subscription. This undoubtedly was true.

But there happened to be in Swainsboro that day a citizen with a would receive that amount, while others who would require the maximum of $30 for the same protection would be granted the larger sion's order.

Now it was my turn to run. Thouse the direction of the state evidently paid for the construction was paid for. But the people of the state evidently paid for the hauling and unloading.

SAID IT BUT DIDN'T MEAN IT.

Mr. Anderson thought it a bit of rascality to say that Governor Eugene Talmadge had said he had paid the state out of debt when his own auditor said the state owed a little account of some 30,000,000 or

He was careful to protect the Governor. "Even if he did say it he didn't mean it," said Mr. Anderson. He was careful to explain that even the Governor did say he had paid the state out of debt, a child of the first grade would know that was not what he meant to say.

It might be possible to wonder if the Governor is saying what he Mr. Anderson wasn't sure. But he was saving, on every stump on which he appeared, "I have paid the state out of debt." It is hardly possible a first-grade child could misunderstand that. And it must be a mere coincidence the Governor has not mentioned can understand that much. Mr. Anderson says everyone should have known it was a floating to the state out of debt."

It is a bit difficult to understand. Mr. Talmadge's words of floating through the air saying, "I have paid the state out of debt."

Of course, we older folks—
"Hey, call me a taxi. I've got to go across the street!" debt. But that is a bit difficult to understand. Mr. Talmadge's words were floating through the air saying, "I have paid the state out of debt." There couldn't be any misunderstanding about that. Or there couldn't until the auditor's report was made.

NOT DISPUTED.

Another crime and misdemeanor of The Constitution's was, according to Mr. Anderson's epistle, because it had charged Talmadge with trying to wreck the democratic party, beginning with his Grass Roots convention at Macon.

It is a fact, which no one has yet disputed, that the Grass Roots convention was financed from top to bottom by money subscribed from re-publicans and disaffected democrats. Its leaders are to be found actively engaged in work in behalf of Alf Landon, the republican nominee. was there the Governor said: "We will drive the whole gang out of Washington. Now we know the Governor often says things he didn't mean to say, it may be explained he meant this for a pat on the back for his party's administration in Washington. Or that it was meant kindly and

The old threadbare political charges of fraud, rascality and untruth won't obscure these facts. Even if the soldiers were not there on business but merely paying social visits with blackjacks and pistols. Circulation of Mr. Anderson's editorial as advertisements was made possible by friends of Governor Talmadge. These couldn't be, by any chance, the same friends who made possible the Grass Roots conven tion and who are now flooding the state with republican campaign funds? The next time I am in Macon on an assignment, I am going to drop into the Telegraph office to borrow the use of a typewriter. I like to visit Mr. Anderson and his shop. Mr. Brown is a successful business man. He owns the most attractive home on the best residence street in his town, and drives an expensive car. He has the respect of everybody who knows him, and not few of his neighbors envy his good fortune.

But Mr. Brown, while keeping his chin up and seeming quite sure

For many years Mr. Brown has led a blameless life, but in his youth, before he began to prosper, his leisure was devoted to the vilest of vices and his companions were the kind never seen in respectable society. NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON. PEACE WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A heavy lull has developed lately among the government's prying squads. The young Hawkshaws in many of the federal services seem to have lost much of their zest for their business. Some have suspected it is only campaign quiet. Others accept it as a natural reaction to Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's public demotion of two secret service agents who spied on G-Men. Both guesses may be close, but a more impressive explanation is accredited on the

Some weeks before Mr. Morgenthau's decisive action, an investigating genius in another government department was invited to take a job outside the executive branch of the government, and he accepted. The news of his departure was made public, but no excuse was ever offered. The inside explanation is that this genius also made the mistake of investigating another government official outside his department, this time a friend of Vice President Garner and Chairman Farley. The investigated official left Washington in a huff and has not returned.

Messrs. Garner and Farley are supposed to have engineered the subsequent offer which led the investigating ex-genius into other fields. Thus, a salutary peace has come to Washington.

VOICES The question of whether Father Coughlin has been put under good behavior restrictions for the presidential campaign is still an open one, despite the whoopee made at his Cleveland conven-

Several conflicting stories are being spread about what he will do. The inside consensus here is that he will go ahead with what he has started, but in a much calmer tone of voice.

His radio manager has announced, without explanation, the cancellation of his fall and winter series of Sunday afternoon broadcasts, until "some time after the first of the year." The assumption is he will reserve a schedule on the Mutual network for the Lemke-O'Brien ticket, but the trade publication, "Broadcasting," reports that Mutual Broadcasting System has announced no time reservations vet.

Meanwhile, the communist party has budgeted itself for $60,000 worth of radio time, wherever it got the money,

ADVICE President Roosevelt's board of campaign strategy is not unanimous in favor of his coming trip to the North Dakota

More than two are supposed to have advised the President not to make the trip, on the ground that it would not do him much good and might do some harm. There is nothing he can do about the drouth looking at it, beyond what has already been done, they say. Also, as they see it, the trip may encourage the impression he is using the drouth for campaign purposes, especially if he is greeted by large crowds, has conferences with the governors, including Landon, and makes

This probably explains why definite arrangements have been held in abeyance so long. There is just a vague chance the trip may be curtailed sharply, but not unless the President himself changes his mind. Usually, in matters of this kind, he considers himself to be his own best adviser, and he probably is.

The action is being taken, said Captain Bennett yesterday, "for their own good as well as the community." Investigators of the dissension at the settlement obtained from Commander H. H. Chappelear, of the Pine Mountain Valley American Legion post, the following defense of the project's management:

"I know some of the settlers who were 'canned' deserved the action taken, and some of them.

New Revolver Capable of Wrecking Auto Engine, Hoover Declares.

By ROGER HAWTHORNE. WASHINGTON Aug. 17.—(P)—A new revolver of tremendous power, which J. Edgar Hoover says might wreck an automobile engine with a single shot, is being tested by the Bureau of Investigation which heads.

Described by one Justice Depart-

Described by one Justice Department official as being capable "of stopping anything," the weapon is being tried out in the field to determine if it should be adopted as standard equipment for Hoover's "G-men,"

No gun of its weight, 44 to 49 ounces, having such power, ever has been available before, officials said. It inflicts a large wound and the impact of a bullet from it was said to have a force of 802 pounds. The regular "service" type has an impact, or "shocking power," of only 350 pounds.

An example cited to show the gun's deadliness was inter-penetration of two steel plates, each .0625 inches thick, in addition to two 7.8-inch pine planks. The gun is manufactured by an American company and already is on the market. It is as accessible to criminals as to law enforcement officers except in states or communities havpurchase many of the 600 guns which would be necessary to replace present

Minton, who conferred with Democratic Chairman James A. Farley along with other Indiana leaders and leaders from Maryland and Virginia, told newspapermen "Landon and his issues are both phony and they can't sell them to the American people."

He predicted President Roosevelt would carry Indiana by at least 100,000 votes.

Governor Paul V. McNutt also told Farley Indiana would be in the Roosevelt column.

J. M. Hooker, state chairman in Virginia, said he could see no basis for republican statements that Virginia was a doubtful state.

"I don't think anyone who considers affairs in Virginia could possibly consider it a doubtful state," he said. "We will carry it for the President. There is no doubt about that."

He said Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd, both of whom have sharply criticized some New Deal activities, actively would support the President in the campaign.

Army Private Injects Reality in Maneuvers (A)-The yearning of a private on grenade duty for realism in the second army war maneuvers sent an umpire to the hospital today with head injuries. The private complained to his captain that he couldn't stop any motor trucks by waving his arm as he pretended to throw grenades, and the captain jokingly asked: "Why not throw a rock at them?"

The soldier did just that. The rock bounced off the head of an umpire riding by on a truck and the arbiter was counted out as a casualty.

THE OLYMPICS AGAIN.

Mr. Alexander accompanied the American Olympic team

Having formed an intense dislike for Mr. Avery Brundag on the basis of Mr. Brundage's intense publicity during the recen Olympics, I asked for an estimate from Mr. Alexander, who is Blair, 2b an A. A. U. official of the sane type and who knows Mr. Davis, o

Brundage well.
"He is all right," said Mr. Alexander. "Maybe the things got away from him a little but he had a difficult job. I know from my own experience. I think it would be an excellent idea if they could send over each team with its own coaches. The girl athletes should be sent on a separate ship.

"It is almost impossible to throw a lot of different team together and attempt to have them all eat, train, work and entertain in the same manner.'

"But you think Avery Brundage is all right?"

"Yes, he's a good fellow." "You disappoint me greatly."

"I am sorry but he is a good fellow," repeated Mr.

Which still leaves me unable to understand the treatment of Jesse Owens, who was fired out of amateur athletics not for turning professional, as some would have it, but because he refused to barnstorm for the A. A. U. His coach, a reputable man, termed the tours a "racket" and advised his star not to participate. He has not accepted a professional job and consequently could not be kicked out for that. It seemed a very small and unsportsmanlike thing to do following so hard on the heels of his Olympic success.

He could accept theatrical offers and, so long as he did not run in them or give lessons on training or technique, still be an amateur. If, of course, the A. A. U. wanted to so rule.

I would like to see Mr. William Alexander in charge of the American Olympics. At least a man of his type and character should be named. He would come through without having to fire or disgrace anyone.

I had one more fling at it. I stuck my head back in the door.

"You still say Mr. Brundage is a good fellow?" "I must confess I do."

I still wish Mr. Alexander had his place. And I guess Mr.

Brundage had all his bad days on this one tour.

THE SHARKEY-LOUIS BATTLE.

Tonight's ring battle will disclose just what was left of Joe Louis after Max Schmeling finished with him that night in June. Based on the dope, Louis should win in about five

He fights a man who has been behind a beer counter for about three years. But he meets a man who was, in his day, a good boxer, rather a great boxer. And one with a pretty fair right hand.

I think Louis should win. But he won't if he is afraid, as once his opponents were afraid. And no one knows what shape uate draw, no falls. the Louis heart is in. Unless he has grown entirely craven he can beat Jack Sharkey.

But there is no form on which to base a guess in this bout. There was plenty of it before—all wrong, as it turned out.

But Louis is the logical choice—in a fight which has very little of the logical about it.

Sharkey knows more. That's his asset. He has a chance if Louis is to quit against him. Any way you look at it, the fight game is in a not-so-pretty state when Jack Sharkey has a chance to come bounding back as one of the first line contenders.

Byron Speece, after several unsuccessful attempts, last night became the first Southern league pitcher to win 20 games as the Vols defeated Birmingham a double-header, 9-6 and 4-3. Speece had to have relief from Sharky Eiland in the first game. The Vols rallied to win the second, driving Darrow to the showers. The double win left Nashville seven games back of Atlanta.

New Orleans also won a double-header from Chattanooga, taking the first in 11 innings, 6-5, and the second, 6-2. The Pels passed Chattanooga and went into a tie with Little Rock for fourth place.

Louis Rated 7 to 5 To Whip Sharkey Tonight in Gotham

IN GREAT SHAPE AND CONFIDENT

Short Odds Show Fans Are Not So Sure of "Bomber."

By Eddie Brietz.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(P)—Faced with the biggest test of his meteoric career, Joe Louis hits the meback trail tomorrow night in a 10-round bout with Jack Sharkey in meteoric career. Joe Louis hits in a 10-round bout with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee stadium.

Although generally picked to beat the veteran Boston sailor, also in the midst of a comeback drive, the short odds plainly show the fans are not as sure of the young Detroiter as they were prior to his defeat by Max Schmeling two months ago.

Louis was a 7-to-5 favorite tonight. The odds were hammered down from 8 to 5 with the arrival on Broadway of the advance guard of several hundred Sharkey supporters from Boston.

FAIR WEATHER.

With fair weather promised, Promoter Mike Jacobs confidently predicted a crowd of 50,000 and a gate of $200,000. Off to a slow start ticket sales picked up last week as interest heightened and for the past three days there has been an old-time rush for pasteboards.

Both battlers were pronounced fit and ready at their training camps today. Sharkey broke camp at Crangeburg after a light but snappy drill and motored into New York to spend the night at a hotel.

Louis will not leave Pompton Lakes, N. J., until two hours before the weighing in ceremonies at the New York Hippodrome at noon tomorrow.

While most of the experts have picked Louis to do a right-about-face and polish off the Squire of Chestnut Hill with the same vicious knockout wallop that disposed of Max Baer, Primo Carnera and most of the colored lad's other opponents, Sharkey is not without supporters.

WORKED HARD.

WORKED HARD. The 33-year-old former champion has worked hard and earnestly, has attained perfect physical condition and seems determined to prove he is just is good as when he took the title from Schmeling in 1932. Sharkey thinks he is meeting Louis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(P)—Away to a five-man lead in the first inning at the expense of Lefty Gomez, the Washington Senators whipped the league leading New York Yankees 7 to 5 today in one of the two games played in the major leagues.

Gomez, who has not won a game since beating the Senators July 4, was touched for five hits, one of them a double by Red Kress, and handed out one walk during the opening frame. He was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the second and Kemp Wicker, recently brought up from Newark, held the Nats in check the remainder of the game. mainder of the game.

Future Unmarred by Custody Fight Promised for Mary Astor's Daughter

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17.—(P)—A future unmarred by the bitter custody battle, in which her actress mother and physician father accused each other of romantic indiscretions, was painted for little Marylyn Thorpe to day.

She was back at the Toluca Lake home of her mother, screen star Mary Astor, after a gay three-hour visit with her father, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, Sunday.

"She'll never know she was mentioned in a courtroom," said the smiling physician as his blond four-year old daughter threw her arms around him.

The physician has bought a new stucco home on a Hollywood hillside and assured "Marylyn will love it" when she comes to him for a month on September I before being placed in a private school.

Miss Astor was reported planning a long vacation from film engagements, although the custody case had increased public interest in her work.

She was lonelier than before with Penny gone. The hospital bills were still unpaid. They were like an evil omen, starting at her from the desk and, despite the lean meals she allowed herself, she was in arrears in her rent.

There was a rehearsal for the fashion show and Gay found herself in the enormous ballroom of the Brent home where she had danced so many times.

Mrs. Brent asked. "Isn't this Gay Van Avery? How is your dear mother? This must be very trying for the severely tailored suit.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

RAINBOWS. "Rainbow in the morning, sailors take warning!"

That is an old saying, and there is some sense in it. When the rising sun shines on the western sky, and makes a rainbow there, it means that rain is in the west. Storms often blow out of the west, so a western rainbow may mean that a rainstorm is coming.

Another saying is, "Rainbow at night, sailors' delight." This really means a rainbow in the late afternoon, shortly before sunset. Such a rainbow will be in an easterly direction, away from the setting sun. If a west wind is carrying rain eastward, the rain will not be blown toward us, and the weather should be fair.

Those sayings may have been all right for sailors who were afraid of rainstorms, but farmers might put the matter the other way around. During dry spells, they would like all rain-bows to come in the morning!

bows to come in the morning!

It is true that a great number of storms come from the west, but they also come from other directions. South winds from the Gulf of Mexico often sweep up the Mississippi valley, taking moist air with them, and leading to rains in Canada as well as in northern parts of the United States. How many colors has a rainbow? That is a hard question to answer. One poet said there were a "million" colors, but his figure was rather high! The custom is to tell of "seven colors" in the rainbow-violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red. Those colors are all to be seen at times, but often we can make out only two or three bands of color.

If a person were miles above the earth, he might see a complete rainbow, that is, a circle of colors. Usually we see only a half-circle or less.

The colors are brought to us by reflection of sunbeams from rain drops. White light has all colors in it, and the colors can be set apart by the use of prisms. At certain times, rain drops act like prisms, and reflect sunlight so we see several colors. Often there are two rainbows at the same time, the larger of the two being less bright than the other.

Rainbows may be seen in the mist or spray of waterfalls. Visitors to Niagara Falls see very good ones. If you do not find enough rainbows in the sky, you may make one in the yard beside your home. Stand with your back to the sun, and let your green hose send out a broad your garden hose send out a broad spray. I have made this kind of rain-bow many times. If you they it, I hope you will have success. You should have the best fortune in the early half of the morning, or in the late afternoon. The sun does not make rainbows at noon when it is high in the sky.

Home-Coming at Griffin Attracts Many Visitors to Native Heath

By Sally Forth.

A TLANTA and her sister city, Griffin, have always been particularly close, not only due to their proximity on the map but also to the fact that many residents of Atlanta are originally from the smaller city. So Atlantans are particularly interested in the mam-moth home-coming celebration which Griffin's Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor in that city on Wednesday of next week. Douglas Holberg, general chairman of the affair, has brought Sally news of the interesting events that have been planned for the day.

The highlight of the program will be the appearance of many of the leading candidates for state offices, who will speak. A barbecue will be served at noon and preparations are being made to take care of a crowd of 50,000 persons.

Griffin hostesses are noted for their gracious hospitality and their nomes will be thrown open to the many former resident; who will return for the day to renew old friendships. Many Atlanta pio neers were originally from Griffin and hundreds of present day residents first saw the light of day in the Spalding county capt-The Junior Chamber Commerce is most anxious that as many old Griffinites as possible will return to their narive heath for this big day.

One of Griffin's most prominent native sons is James N. Nunnally, but he is in Florida at present so will not be able to take part in the festivities. Mrs. J.
Sprole Lyons, wife of the beloved Atlanta minister, and her niece, Miss Katharine Walker, are others who call Griffin their former home. One entire family group that moved here several years ago from Griffin includes Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Persons Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Persons Jr., Mrs. Bluma Carmichael Wellborn Persons and little Miss Marian Persons and they will probably Journey to Griffin on Wednesday. Among Griffinites who have been residents of Atlanta for years are Mrs. John W. Mangham, John Mangham Jr., Miss Emma Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Newnan, Joseph H. Drewery, Mrs. J. Hinton Clark, Miss Mildred Clark, Miss Jenle McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Nichols and Miss Mary Nichols. Samuel W. Mangham and his charming wife, the former Marguerite Blakely, are both former residentsof Griffin, as is Mrs. Wellborn Blalock, who was Mar-tha Drake. Mrs. J. Whiteley Kin-Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Another entire family group that moved a few years ago to this city from Griffin includes Mrs. Homer Williams, her sons, Ralph and Sherman Williams, and her daughter, Miss Jean Williams. Charlotte Boyd Woolford and Mrs. Howard Cutter Jr., also tormer Griffinites, are the daughters of the late Douglas Boyd and Mrs. Boyd, who now resides in Birmingham, Alt. Their cousin, Mrs. Harry Rogers, and Dr. Rog-ers, are former residents of Griffin who are always interested in returning to their native city. During the life-time of their hus-band and father, the late Dr. Frank McCoy, Mrs. McCoy and Miss Jessie McCoy lived in Gritwhere he was pastor of the First Presbyterian church for friends. Lieutenant and Mrs. Arthur Copeland, of Fort McPherson, came here from Griffin, too. Mr. and Mrs. Elton Tingle are others who call Griffin home. Mrs. Malcolm McEachern, the former Miss Josephine Pittman, resided in Griffin until her marriage some two years ago. Mrs. William L. McDougall, formerly Miss Mary Alice Thomas, is a native Gritfinite who is keeping close with affairs there through visits with her mother, Mrs. Robert Hunt.

Sally couldn't possibly list everyone in Atlanta who has lived in Griffin, for it would take a special edition of the paper to do it, but here are just a few more who have kept in close touch with their former home and who doubtless will be back for the homecoming: Bruce Montgomery, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bryant, Franklin Sibley Jr., Mrs. Francis Forster, Jack Pounds, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wilson, Miss Cornelia Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Collier Helms, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Charles Williams, Dr. Starr Ingram, Milton Graham, John Darhey, Mrs. Ruby Driver Downs, Mrs. Nathan Bodenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gunnels, Mar-ion Stafford Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaissert Jr., Sidney Stapleton Jr., George Carson, Gus Persons, Miss Stella Gardner and John H. Green.

SALLY FORTH'S Dan Cupid scout reports that romance continues to pervade the atmosphere during these final days of Atlanta's 1936 summer season. According to the scout the be-trothal of a popular Atlanta belle to a well-known bachelor physician will be announced before the arrival of another new moon.

The prospective bride is one of Sally's favorite members of soclety's younger set. What a striking bride she will make when arrayed in white satin and lace for she is of the queenly statuesque type of beauty. Not only does she enjoy popularity in her home city but she also occupies a distinct social post-tion along Florida's fashionable riviera where she spends each winter season. With hosts of other friends, Sally will offer her congratulations as soon as the betrothal rumor is officially con-

"Every heart knoweth its own bit-terness," wrote an ancient poet; and because the bitterness is usual-ly the result of a humiliating defeat we put up a brave fight to keep friends and acquaintances from dis-covering the source. There are only a few clever enough to conceal the secret. The mother quall walks straight away from her nest when she sights a stranger, hoping to de-ceive him about its location. Hunters are on to the trick and they look in an opposite direction from the one in which the quail goes. It doesn't take long for friends to get on to our tricks either They quickly dis-cover that our talk doesn't tally with any doesn't houghter Every. with our deep thoughts. Every bit-ter word we speak leads in to, not out from our secrets.

Ever hear a divorced man speak of marriage as though it were a prison into which he had been thrown against his will, handcuffed, bound, gagged and chained? He will tell you that his married friends who pretend to be contented are either half-witted or selfdeceived and that any one of them, given half a chance would make his escape. Marriage defeated him, humiliated him and in the effort to con ceal it, he lets everybody know it.

Ever hear a man who was a piti-able failure snarl at a friend who had got some honor or distinction? He will tell vou that had the friend been straight he would never have attained such success. He will say that anybody wanting such an empty honor might have it, provided he were willing to pay the price. Every ungenerous sentiment he utters advertises his envy and shows him up for what he is a defeated man.

Ever hear a spinster roast the race of men, intimating that none of them was good enough to wipe the dust from her shoes? She swears she is lucky to have escaped marriage and she feels sorry for her sisters who have to live under the roof with the reptiles. HYDE PARK, N. Y., (Sunday)-Yesterday the skies were gloomy and all through the day we had a certain amount of rain. However, it held off long enough so that we could swim in the morning. Three young men who are interested in the peace movement, came up to enjoy the swimming pool and to tell us about their work.

I had not realized that the Emergency Peace Movement had 42 teams working this summer in various places throughout the country. Most of the workers are of college age and volunteer eight weeks of work. Those who are able to, contribute a certain amount toward their expenses. Five boys have been working for eight weeks here in Dutchess county. They live in the basement of the Friends church and cook their

They have contacted church groups and granges, have spoken before them throughout the county and have left a skeleton organization to carry on the work of peace and increase the interest in the subject. Though this work is largely done by young people, older people are working in it also. We sat around discussing the value of the work, the objectives and what could be done for a long time. Our talk led to many discussions during the day.

Last evening it seemed to me that everybody had a different idea how peace could be attained. Some of them claim it must be done leaders in each country, others insist it cannot be done by the leaders but by the education of people in general, for without their knowledge and comprehension of problems, no leaders can achieve great

No one expresses great faith in the unselfishness of human beings, and everyone seems to acknowledge the fact that we must count on a certain amount of greed and willingness on the part of some human beings to prey on others. We were still arguing this point when the time came to meet the President at the train. Three of the children went up to the station and returned without him. They very solemnly announced that the President had decided to stay the night at New York. They thought they could get a rise out of me, but I know my childrer too well, and calmly said that that was a very good idea. Whereupon they remarked: "Well, now we will tell you the truth, he is coming in on standard time instead of daylight saving, and the train is three-quarters of an hour late besides. So we have an hour and three-quarters to wait until We waited and all went down to meet him. In spite of the pretty South Candler street in Decatur, at which time her guest, Miss Katherine Thompson, of Miami, Fla., will share honors with these popular visitors.

Tomorrow evening Miss Agnes Gibson will be hostess at dinner at her home on sixth street in honor of the more of the pretty strenuous three days, which made the whole party ready to go to bed, they were very full of what they had seen and quite anxious to tell us about everything.

After opening steady, 8 to 10 points ahead in response to relatively good Liverpool cables, and the over-Sunday reports of continued drout in the western belt, prices reacted partially under realizing in anticipation of an increasing new crop movement. Prices worked back within a few points of Saturday's closing quotations, but offerings were taken by the trade or commission house buying. The market reached the highest points of the day in late trading. Business was comparatively quiet during the greater part of the day but became more active on the late rally.

Many people cannot conceive of the existence of a truly "personal" relationship between a large business enterorise covering many states and its individual customers. Yet, in the brokerage business this personal relationship not only exists but is actually a necessity. (Mass production methods provide efficient handling behind the scenes, but at the point of contact with the customer, nothing will ever replace the friendly personal discussions which for generations have characterized client-broker relationships.

While but a humble (Copyright, 1986, for The Constitution.) servant in the British navy, he had been discharged in 1779. Seven years later he had enjoyed sudden change of fortune. Through me influence at the British court, he had been given a fat berth at Balboa as dockyard inspector, under the commission of the King of Spain. James further discovered that his own birth had occurred in England im-mediately prior to his uncle's de-parture for Spain.

That his mysterious patron across the water continued to fear him was further evidenced to James during the War of 1812, when, through clever War of 1812, when, through clever importunities, certain persons later learned to have been British spies, enticed him to enlist in the American army. And only ofter it was too late did the youth realize having commit-ted technical treason to the land of is birth, an act that invalidated any sible claim to British title or es-

During his 80 years af ransacking through musty records, Judge Ord came upon many bits of evi-dence other than those directly concerning the movements of his uncle. Not until he was 48, did he gain pos-session of his uncle's confidential pa-pers. Among these was a letter from one who revealed himself as a priest, but whose name was not given. It came from Europe and asked:
"Is the child alive?"

At this time there still lived in Washington Captain Ord's confessor

No greater satisfaction than this would James Ord ever give to his nephew and namesake, the riddle of whose identity gnawed at his soul during fourscore years and more.

About the time when our seat of government was being moved to the banks of the Potomac, this man and boy had come from Europe to seek their fortunes in the new federal city.

James, the elder, became a master mechanic at the Washington navy yard, where he was known as Captain Ord. He related startling tales of his adventures under foreign skies and retailed many police bits of gossip concerning the royal families of Europe. The boy, James Ord, was entered at Georgetown College. A plentiful supply of money, out of all proportion to his Uncle James' wages and apparent means, was regularly appropriated for his education and maintenance.

August 14 marks the natal day of ording to the rules of astrology.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. King, one of At-women. This brings her birth-date under the influence of the zodiacal sign Leo.

Leo is the fifth sign of the zodiac, and is the sign of idealism,
love, friendliness,
intuition

The Leo nature never does any-thing half-heart-edly, but pours edly, but pours into every proj-ect all its power, vitality, en-thusiasm. Such a one is ambitious aspiring, scornful of mean and sordid action. With the Sun in Leo she pos sesses a good memory and is a loyal and true friend. No inconvenience or sacrifice is too great for her when serving those she loves.

The Sun, powerfully placed, taken in connection with the planet Uranus, shows one quite sensitive to subtle vi brations of the invisible world and naturally inclines toward the occult path. It gives intuition, altruism, one with broad views and conceptions.

The moon position gives her a splendid sense of values. She gains loyalty to friends from the same planet.

The Venus-Saturn position gives her a splendid sense of values at the a love for art and culture and the time of your birth. Your astrological finer things of life.

The chart endows her with unusual individuality, the ability to merit and by numbers on your Sun chart. Watch

Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future, or to solve personal problems, but she can give you a complete and accurate rendition of the position of the Sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully worked out, according to the strict rules of astrology. All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with 10 cents, in coin, to cover the mailing cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal astrologically with the Sun at the time of your birth, called a Sun chart, and with this Sun chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which will be published in The Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, ac-

Information or partnership language consits of positive and negative inferences gathered from the kind (opening, secondary, shutout bid, and so forth) and the level (one-odd, two-odd, and so forth) of the bid made.

Many of the more common or more ber of conventions are "artificial" in the sense that they do not spring naturally from the logic of the bid-ding situation, but are an agreement between partners (of course with the full knowledge of the opponents) that a certain bid shall have a special meaning. It is impossible to play contract without some minimum of conventions, especially in slam bidding. And persons who claim they "play no conventions" either play bumble-puppy bridge or do plan conventions that are tactily understood. You need a system for everything—to cross a street, write a book, woo a girl, or run a country. Bridge players who claim to play no system usually have a stubborn little system clogged in their subconscious minds, picked up at random from the hands they have played or observed.

A bridge system is a unified body of bridge knowledge consisting of principles, methods, conventions, or rules which are logically connected.

"Yes, but I can see it made in a rich brown background with white ribbons. That would be modern for a boy's room and would be mere serviceable if the white were changed to eggshell, don't you think?

The Nancy Page Quilt club members argued back and forth about the colors, but there was no difference of opinion about the effectiveness of the quilt.

As the members studied the small picture they thought that the piece marked "a 2" was a different shaped piece from the others, but Nancy showed them that it corresponded to "a 1." The part of "a 2" that shows makes it seem a different size and shape.

After the cardboard patterns had been traced they were cut out. These were then laid on the goods. The members were careful to use fast color, fine material. They marked the outline of the cardboard pieces with pencil on the cloth. In cutting the pieces of cloth they allowed one-quarter inch beyond the pencilled line. For a double bed-size quilt Nancy showed them that it corresponded to "a 1." The part of "a 2" that shows makes it seem a different size and shape.
